ly, and every portion of the scalp should be moved free from the skull, the fingers traveling in little circles over the surface. In this way, the sluggish circulation is aroused, the pores are opened, the glands are excited to attend to their duty of oiling and lubricating the roots.

Massage should always follow a shampoo, but this is not often enough for the unhealthy scalp. A scalp-dry scalp or a too oily one—bad circulation and weak muscles are to blame for both conditions—should have massage every night. In the case of the dry scalp, a little bland oil, olive oil or oil of benne rubbed in is beneficial. These oils take the place of the natural output of the sebaceous glands which are not doing their duty. For the oily scalp, bay-rum or alcohol rubbed in after the shampoo is stimulating and drying.

Is it possible to work successfully "for the child that needs a home and the home that needs a child?" In other words, can a great number of unfortunate boys and girls be saved from public institutions by the system of finding havens for them in places that are "homes" on the best acceptance of the world? A year of practical experience has proved that remarkable results can be accomplished by a child-rescue campaign conducted in the principle that universal mother-love can be awakened to a sense of responsibility for the neglected children of the world.

Not only have many childless women adopted boys and girls, but many careless and temporarily helpless mothers have been aroused to a sense of their highest duty. The secondary influence of this work—the stirring up of latent maternal solicitude—may be productive of the most widespread reforms.

Friday a telegram was received from Ogden, calling Joseph Seaveroff of that place home. Business of importance demanded his presence and he left last night. Mrs. Seaveroff will remain two weeks longer and return with her brother-in-law, Albert Seaveroff, who arrives this week. W. G. Patrick of the same firm will be here a week longer. Mrs. Seaveroff has left the Imperial and takes a room at 417 west one hundred twenty-ninth street with her daughter, Mrs. Mae Seaveroff, who is a student here this winter. Miss Telitha Browning of Barnard college and a boarder at Brooks' Hall moved from that dormitory to 417 west one hundred twenty-ninth street also to be near her friend, Miss Seaveroff, the rest of the season.

Friday evening the Misses Louise and Claudia Holt gave a box party to their friends, Mrs. Jos. Seaveroff, Mrs. Mae Seaveroff, Miss Rea Nibley and Miss Telitha Browning, at the Broadway to see Sallie Fisher in "A Suburban Cinderella." It was "dag rish" night and dervilla. The Columbia students and old walls ring with their cheers.

Thursday afternoon a special performance of the first act of "A Suburban Cinderella" was given for Edith Barrymore. The first act of the piece, as she had been unable to attend a full performance, and her brother Jack being leading man his sister naturally felt a deep interest in seeing him a star at Broadway. Miss Barrymore was the audience and she sat at the conclusion of the act that it was the greatest compliment she ever received. The company volunteered to give it as

A PRETTY FROCK OF EMBROIDERY.

It is so easy to contrive a very dressy frock from the embroideries sold now in matching patterns that no woman should be without at least one lingerie dress for summertime. Eyelet flouncing in this case is combined with double-edge insertion of the same design, the upper part of the skirt being made of sheer Persian lawn. The arrangement of the insertion makes a paneled effect, which continues up the bodice at back and front, and the sleeves of the flouncing fall over undersleeves of lace and lawn. A border of this lace and lawn lengthens the skirt at the foot and forms a pretty finish to the embroidery flounce.

the week for Los Angeles, where they will spend the rest of the winter.

In Women's World.

"Massage is the most important feature of a shampoo, just as it is the main working principle of all hair 'tonics,'" writes Florence Augustine in the February Smith's.

"A tonic which is not 'rubbed in' according to directions, is not a guaranteed cure—you rub on the bottles! Massage of the scalp is absolutely necessary to keeping it in good condition. It should be done with the tips of the fingers, regularly, thoroughly, vigorously.

Special Correspondence.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Sunday evening at 23 west One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, mission headquarters, a farewell social was given Elder Cotton, and a few evenings later Mr. and Mrs. Easton entertained the young people of the Colony in honor of Mr. Cotton. At both houses a general good time was the order, and many expressions of good will followed for their friend, who leaves in a few days for Washington. For some time Mr. Cotton has been holding meetings in a large church at Fort Lee, N. J. The church is a new one and without a pastor at present. As a price is always agreed upon for the minister, Elder Cotton offered to speak for nothing if the people would grant him the privilege. The offer was accepted, so that for the last six Sundays each Sunday has found him addressing the congregation. Several of those who have listened to him have come over to Hawthorne hall, N. Y., to regular afternoon services and meet the people here, and a mutual good feeling has been established between residents of Fort Lee and the New York branch. Elder Cotton is entitled to praise for his work while here, his labors have been indefatigable and his popularity increased in a great measure among all classes of people.

Several of the Z. C. M. I. buyers are taking their departure for the west. Mr. Woodruff left last night and Mrs. Woodruff of the military department went today. Mr. James Saville arrived from Pittsburgh Thursday morning with her, she having been with her sister, Mrs. Sears, for over a week. Mr. and Mrs. Saville will be here today to get.

"The Square Man" is having a very successful run at the West End Theater. It has made the circuit around New York playing to good business. In the east is to be found the name of Logan Paul, once of Salt Lake's dramatic forces, the part of interpreter "Boss White" fell to his lot and Mr. Paul certainly showed the influence of the red man had on him in every word in the excellent account he gave of himself as the half-civilized Indian.

The original Boss White, who by the way is a full-blooded Indian, was no better than his white imitator.

In the normal art course at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, Messrs. Salisbury and Russon of Utah are well known students. Cornelius Salisbury has decided to leave the institute having finished the course he came to take and to his surprise was offered a place in Bullentine's scenic studio. Bullentine being known as the head of the department in scenic art in this country. This is an acknowledgment of Salisbury's talent in scenic painting and a coveted position. Mr. Russon is also making strides in the art department of Pratt Institute, and will be heard from before he returns home. Both these artists have their families with them.

At the Waldorf Col. Ed. Loose of Provo, is registered, he having just arrived from Washington, where he has been on political business. Col. Loose may be in the city for a week longer.

Miss Cecelia Soper of Ogden Side L. I. has been visiting her friend, Miss Nan Clawson, for a couple of days. Miss Soper's family, the Pettis, Dehons and Benedicts, are all old residents of Long Island, and well known throughout Utah.

Last Tuesday Geo. Barratt, now of Wilmington, Delaware, came to New York on business with his magazine managers and while here was the guest of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Squires. Mr. Barratt is making wonderful progress under Howard Pyle of Wilmington, and expects to remain with him all summer.

President Rich has been making many changes among the missionaries during the last few weeks, having transferred 12 elders from different conferences sending them to Maine under Elder W. H. Steed and 12 more from other conferences to New Hampshire under Elder W. D. Drudge. New missions will be opened in both these states. Elders Steed and Drudge being competent men for these positions. There is a general feeling of great missionary headquaters lately the coming and going of young men sent out to work in the field and the transferring of so many creates a labor that keeps all busy and thinking.

THE PREVALENCE OF IMITATION JEWELRY.

The craze for semi-barbaric ornaments has, oddly enough, set "fake" jewelry in high favor, and many women who possess thousands of dollars' worth of pearls have them safely locked away this year, while they wear the topaz, chrysoprase, Egyptian turquoise and other fashionable stones. This La Valliere necklace of rhinestones, pearls and diamonds, while not at all costly, is particularly dainty and charmingly in style, and the delicate mounting of the rhinestones on slender bands of silver is very pleasing. The ornament at the front of the necklace is made of tiny opal pearls set in sterling silver, large baroque pearls forming the pendants. The pearl earrings, which match this necklace, are quite as correct this winter as though they represented a value of several thousand dollars.

Foley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation in the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package—F. J. Hill Drug Co. ("The Never Substitutes").

INWARD AND OUTWARD. The inward effects of humors are worse than the outward. They weaken all the organs, inflame the mucous membrane, cause catarrhal troubles, and endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors and cures all their effects. It's the great alterative and tonic. Wherever it has been everywhere established.

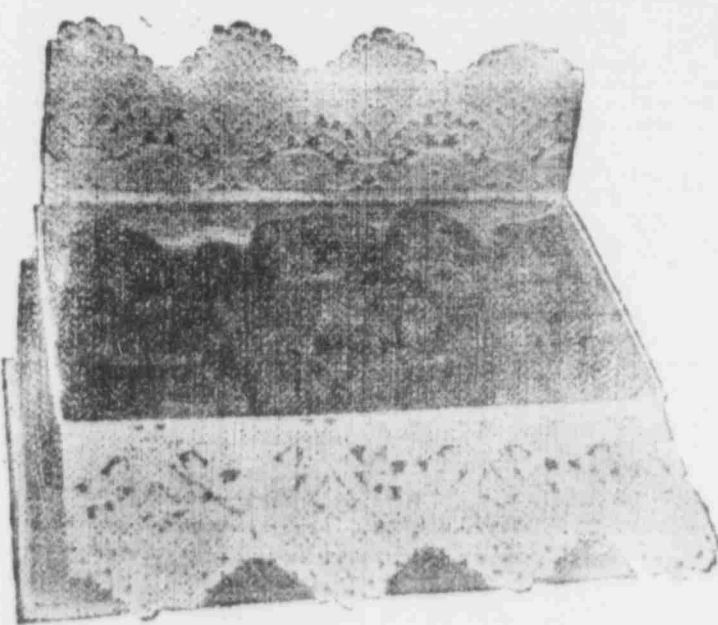

Accept no substitute. A NEW EDITION of Reynolds' Dictionary of the Book of Mormon, now ready at Desert Sunday School Union Book Store, Salt Lake City. $1.25 postpaid.

Sweet's Bitter Sweets

They're "so different"

PRESENTING this latest product of our factory, we want to say that it is "so different" from all other Bitter Sweets on the market. Of course we expect you to inquire "wherein are they 'different?'" We answer—

"Sweet's Bitter Sweets" are perfectly made—just enough "sweet"—just enough "bitter."

"Sweet's Bitter Sweets" are not distastefully bitter—neither are they sickly sweet. "Sweet's Bitter Sweets" have crisp, thick, rich coats of the best bitter chocolate. "Sweet's Bitter Sweets" have a smooth, fine, dainty center—delightfully flavored. "Sweet's Bitter Sweets" have an unvarying high class quality which immediately distinguishes them.

We are right when we say "Sweet's Bitter Sweets" are "so different." We ask you to try them.

LEFT ON HER DOORSTEP FOR THIS MOTHER

Mrs. A. G. Tison, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested. My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all run-down and in a very delicate condition. This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take. 'Just the thing,' said I, 'for my little daughter,' and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily. 'I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial.'
